NAMI ANNOUNCES NEW CLASSES

Provider Education Program training is now open for enrollment. This is a 10-week series of classes based on the Family to Family model, but incorporating new sections directed specifically toward those in the helping professions. Provider Education Program is appropriate for case managers, psychologists, residential care operators, homeless outreach workers, therapists, and all those individuals who work directly with those affected by mental illness and their families.

Provider Education Program – Begins July 13, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Location: Interface Community Room
Address: 1305 Del Norte Road, Camarillo

Provider Education Program – Begins September 14, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Location: Behavioral Health Dept. Training Room
Address: 1911 Williams Drive, Oxnard

This 10-week series of classes is free but pre-registration is required. Classes are limited to 25 participants. CEU units may be offered.

To register or for more information, please call (805) 641-2426, or e-mail namiventura@gmail.com. ❖

FAMILIES IN RECOVERY

JEFF HAYDEN

Jeffrey L. Hayden, M.A., BCBA offered his listeners at NAMI's June General Meeting a clear perspective on treatment methodologies of the past, while presenting effective methods for those affected by mental illness to employ now, to move the entire family system toward recovery.

Centered around a Positive Behavioral Support Model, recovery goals are not simply a return to a pre-morbid condition, but are aimed at community inclusion and attainment of personal goals. This approach of "person-centered planning" identifies the goals of the individual, creates supports to address the individual's goals, and emphasizes community participation, creation of meaningful relationships, and development of personal competencies.

After reviewing the "10 Commandments" of the Positive Behavioral Support model, and examining other behavioral models, Hayden culminated his presentation by offering more than a dozen suggestions to help families improve communication skills and "get along" with each other. Among the top tips were: look for the positives and applaud them, take big problems and break them down into smaller steps, listen before asking questions, be aware of how your body is responding and give yourself a "time-out".

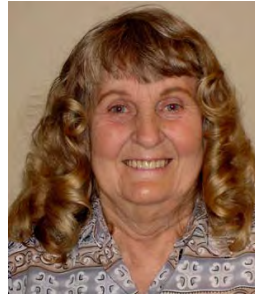

Besides co-authoring papers with such world-renowned figures in the field of psychiatry, as Robert Lieberman, MD, as part of the UCLA-Camarillo State Hospital Clinical Research Team, Hayden has worked alongside several individuals familiar to NAMI Ventura County, including Dr. Tim Kuehnel and Dr. Michael Green. At present Hayden is a partner, with his wife, Lisa J. Hayden, Psy.D., in Camarillo-based Hayden Consultation Services. ❖

ON-GOING ADVOCACY – SPEAK UP!!

Even though Advocacy Day has passed (May 23), several issues before the California state legislature may seriously impact mental health services. Proposed budget cutbacks to the successful AB2034 program – and the usurpation of Proposition 63 funds to finance replacement programs need to be opposed. In the past two weeks yet another legislative-initiated budget cutback may result in elimination of funds to the recently implemented MIOCR (Mentally Ill Offender Crime Reduction) program – a program that just got underway in our County a few short months ago. Giving programs out with one hand and taking them away with the other must stop!! Help change this system! Go to our website www.namiventura.org and click on "Take Action" for more information. ❖

MEET THE BOARD:

CAROL LUPPINO (Housing)

My name is Carol Luppino, and I am the mother of an adult son who suffers from mental illness.

I was living in the Valley and had no idea what I was dealing with when I was told my son was mentally ill.

Unlike many before me, I was lucky to have been given the phone number for NAMI in Van Nuys. With NAMI's help I learned what mental illness was and received a great deal of support and help early on.

In 1991 I moved to Ventura and joined the Ventura branch of NAMI. Housing became my main interest as I discovered that finding a place for my son to live, with the supports that he would need, that he could afford, was almost impossible. I became active on the Behavioral Health's housing committee, which led to my joining the Partners in Housing board. Partners in Housing, in partnership with the Area Housing Authority, built a 23-unit complex of 1-bedroom apartments on Lewis Road for people with mental illness. We also worked with the Ventura and Santa Paula Housing Authority to develop housing for seniors, developmentally disabled, mentally ill and those with low income.

In addition to serving as a committee member on the Mental Health Board's Housing and Adult Services Committee, Lou Matthews and I have also formed NAMI's housing committee. We have worked to build up a housing fund that will hopefully grow so we can develop housing that is clean, safe and affordable, where people with mental illness can live with care and support. It is our goal that this housing would be owned by NAMI, which would ensure its status as housing for the mentally ill.

This past year I became a part of the Working Group of the Ventura County Homeless and Housing Coalition, to help develop a 10-year plan to end homelessness. The goal is to reduce homelessness by 50% in the first 5 years (2008-2012). We know many homeless suffer from a mental illness. To develop appropriate housing for this population will take everyone working together.

I plan to always be a member of NAMI, as it will take me a lifetime to pay back for the help it has been for me. I have met some great people who I can share my experiences with, who understand and care. NAMI's support groups and classes provide a place where you can draw from other people's experience to help you through yours. I must admit, it makes me feel good when I, in turn can help someone else.

With NAMI you know you are not alone. ❖

CONGRATULATIONS!! FOUR NEW FAMILY TO FAMILY TEACHERS

Hooray for Esbeyda Munoz, John Sivie, Norma Perez-Sandford and Diana Skocypec who participated in an intensive week-end of schooling and emerged as trained Family to Family educators! John and Diana traveled to Oceanside where they were instructed by San Diego-area NAMI Family to Family trainers. Esbeyda and Norma were taught in Los Angeles and are NAMI Ventura County's first bilingual Family to Family educators. They will soon be offering Family to Family courses in Spanish. At the speaker's meeting in June, the NAMI Ventura County general membership joined in welcoming and applauding these new teachers.

As NAMI's programs expand, new Family to Family teachers and support group facilitators are needed. The trainings provided by NAMI California usually occur in January and June and fill up quickly. If you are interested in becoming a Family to Family teacher please contact Gail Beeker, our volunteer Family to Family Coordinator or Chris Novak, our staff Family to Family Coordinator at 641-2426. ❖

Ventura County Leadership Academy (VCLA) Honors Joyce Wilde

Joyce Wilde with Ventura Police Chief Pat Miller

On June 1 at its 6th annual Spotlight On Leadership awards dinner, Joyce Wilde was selected as Emerging Leader of the Year. Joyce was the previous President of NAMI Ventura County and continues to serve on NAMI's Advisory Board.

Last year's VCLA Class XI, of which Joyce was a part, adopted the Ventura NAMIWalks 2006 as their class project. Many of her classmates attended this year's awards dinner and showed their support for Joyce. In her acceptance speech, Joyce talked about her work with NAMI and the teamwork she enjoyed in her job. Joyce is the program administrator for the Crisis Intervention Team for law enforcement in Ventura County.

At the June 1st "Spotlight on Leadership" event, VCLA also gave out awards for Distinguished Community and Business Leaders. ❖

TO CELEBRATE MOTHERS AND FATHERS

Some people think of Mother's and Father's Day as Hallmark holidays; but we see them as an opportunity to celebrate NAMI parents: their grit and their commitment, their love and their humanity. . . . Parents who have never stopped trying to help their children--against seemingly overwhelming odds.
